A BLOODY BATTLE.

Between United States Officers and Boomers.

THE LATTER BARRICADE THEMSELVES IN ARABIAN FIGHT.

A Few Minutes Heavy Firing is Enough for Them and They Surrender—Seven Wounded and Thirty Taken Prisoners—The Wagons and Personal Property of the Boomers Destroyed.

PURCELL, I. T., April 22.—There was a sharp battle near here Friday between United States officers and boomers, and thirty boomers were taken prisoners. Seven of them were severely wounded and one deputy marshal slightly hurt. For several days men on horseback and in wagons have been seen fording the South Canadian north of Purcell and disappearing in the timber to the eastward.

Hunters also reported having seen large bodies of boomers moving in a northeasterly direction, and one man was reported plowing in a secluded valley about twenty miles from Purcell. Friday morning early, thirteen prairie schooners crossed the Santa Fe tracks below the city and forded the river. The feeling against the trespassers ran high, and the United States officers were called upon to expel the raiders.

Boomers Barred.

Accordingly the chief deputy, accompanied by thirteen associates, started on their trail. About four miles out a party of four wagons and five men was overhauled and started on the back track. Several miles further on the trail the party was fired on by concealed boomers and a pony killed. The deputies charged the thicket, but found no one. Advancing a short distance further into a ravine they discovered a rough barricade of logs and brush, and were greeted by a volley of bullets. Only one of the deputies was hit, however, and he not seriously. It was evident the barricade was heavily manned, and that a direct assault would prove disastrous.

A Flank Movement.

Finally the deputies divided their forces and flanked the boomers, gaining positions where they could fire directly into the barricade. At a signal they opened fire. After ten minutes heavy firing a cry for quarter went up from the boomers, and the firing ceased. A hasty advance to the fort, and the officers were in charge of thirty prisoners, seven of whom were severely wounded.

The Wounded.

Two of the these, Thomas Mullins and David Winslow, will probably die. Mullins has a bullet in his left lung and Winslow one in his abdomen. Martin Fallon, of Gainesville, Tex., received a ball in his left thigh; John T. White, of Fort Worth, was struck in the shoulder; Samuel Dodd, of North Carolina, has a deep gash in his forehead; Edward Frabishley, of Texas, suffers a shattered arm; John Young, of Louisiana, is shot through the shoulder.

Their Property Destroyed.

The prisoners, all of whom had rifles and revolvers and plenty of ammunition, were disarmed, the wounded cared for as well as possible under the circumstances, and the march to Purcell was taken up. The wagons and personal property of the boomers were destroyed. The gang were all southerners, mostly from Texas, and presented a forlorn appearance.

An Advance Guard.

Their captain, Edward McIntosh, said he had been concealed in a ravine for three days, and that the party was only an advance guard of more than 400, who, through agents sent ahead, had selected their claims and proposed to hold them with Winchester against all comers.

Late Friday night it was reported a large number of Texans, who have encamped off the Wichita river are on the way to Purcell. This causes the fear that they will attempt to rescue the prisoners, and that a bloody conflict may follow.

Indian Police Are Determined.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., April 22.—A detachment of troopers from Fort Reno arrived Friday morning, and will join Capt. Hayes at the Ponca reservation. The sergeant says that a gang of desperadoes from No Man's Land, armed to the teeth, is camped in the Arapahoe and Cheyenne reservation, near the western border of Oklahoma. It is believed they will rove through the territory and plunder settlers who are beyond the protection of the United States marshals.

The rival faction of gamblers at Purcell came together Thursday night and exchanged several shots, but without doing any injury. The Indian police threatened to empty their Winchester right, and left without regard to consequences, and the fighting soon ceased and the crowd dispersed.

Infantry Under Arms.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 22.—All the troops at this garrison, including part of the hospital corps, with the exception of one company of infantry are under arms and following Gen. Merritt and his aid, Lieut. Dodge, into Oklahoma at an hour's notice. Gen. Merritt and aid are now on their way to the territory, the genera with unlimited discretionary powers.

A Bank on Wheels.

KANSAS CITY, April 22.—About $50,000 was deposited in Kansas City banks Friday, subject to call when required for banks to be established in Oklahoma. One firm, Deaseger Brothers, of Cameron, Mo., has a bank on wheels, and will utilize that until a better building can be obtained.

The Cherokee Strip.

CHICAGO, April 22.—The first intelligence from the boomers since they crossed the northern boundary of the Indian Territory, headed for Oklahoma, was received here Friday in a shape of a dispatch written in Yellow Bull camp, on the Skeleton river, half way across the Cherokee strip. The dispatch was hurriedly made up in the afternoon and handed to an Indian runner, a member of the Nez Perces tribe named Mosquito. A thirty-mile ride by pony and a swim through the raging Ephraim were required before the Indian could lay down the dispatch in the nearest telegraph station to the big cavalcade of land seekers. Messenger Mosquito completed the task Friday. The dispatch from Arkansas City says: "As far as the eye could reach the endless caravan of boomers stretched, lying north and south across the face of the green and level country like a great white ribbon. All day long our more rapid course was taken along the column toward its head. A favorable impression of these people stealthily grows as familiarity with them advances. They seem neither poor and shiftless nor vicious and adventurous. They appear, taken all together, typical American farmers, bonded for new homes for their families, with the disturbing and rough element among them comparatively very small. "Mac" may no drunkenness was soon among them, and the chief characteristic noticeable was unfailingly good nature and hospitality. We lunched at noon with a boomer and family from the neighborhood of Wichita. As we toasted our flitch in the blaze and whittled the slices out of our corn pone with all the amenities of the dining table, personalities were completely lost sight of in the fellow-feeling that we were all, with our host, simply Oklahoma boomers. "This Cherokee strip stretching between Kansas and Oklahoma is a beautiful wilderness, as smooth and green as a lawn. The Kansas farmer has long had a covetous eye on this strip, and the opinion is general among the boomers that it will be opened to settlement ere long. Every outfit has a plow and grain for sowing. "When a settler is asked what he will do if he cannot get a claim in Oklahoma, his invariable reply is: 'I will turn back on the Cherokee strip, plow a patch and plant.' "This will certainly be done by hundreds, and the question of opening the strip will thus soon be urgently presented. At Skeleton river we turned about four miles west of the Ponca trail, and the boomers gradually became a faint line in the eastern sky. In this Nez Perces camp, so called from the tribal chief, Yellow Bull, we have picked our weary horses and will finish the day in rest. To-morrow night we hope to stand upon the banks of the Cimarron, whose reported overflow is the chief anxiety of all. We can there at least look, if not go over, into the promised land."

DUN'S REPORT.

Prospects Good—Merchants Have No Room to Complain.

NEW YORK, April 22.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade will say: It is still the fact that most of the indications usually considered of value, point to a genuine improvement in business though moderate in amount and rather in volume of transactions than in profits. Yet in some directions the outlook grows less satisfactory every week, and the disheartenment and uncertainty in a few important branches affect all trades in the same degree.

Crop prospects brighten steadily. Lower prices result in largely increased exports. Money is abundant, the treasury is pouring out freely, and there are no signs of pressure from abroad. Railroad earnings are increasing, and payment through banks, yet failures in some important branches of trade are numerous. Collections are generally slower than usual. The iron and leather interests are embarrassed by production largely exceeding the present demand.

The reports from interior centers of trade are almost uniformly favorable, indicating moderate but steady improvement.

At Kansas City wet weather has somewhat affected trade and collections, and at Pittsburg the slow movement and weakness in prices of iron and steel products, glass and coal, affect business generally, but at Cleveland more inquiry for iron ore is reported, and a better feeling is manifest. Similar influences doubtless account in part for the general dullness at Philadelphia, though the grocery, provision and cattle markets there are fairly active. The wool market is waiting; the old supply is nearly exhausted, and new wool being not as yet available in any quantity, prices are mostly nominal, but average for 104 grades and qualities nearly half a cent lower. The classification of worsted goods as woolsens by the appraisers at Philadelphia has been endorsed by the board of appraisers, but had no effect on the markets as yet.

The direct influence of depression in the iron and steel business is large, but it has a still greater moral influence because of the current impression that the prices or corruption of pig iron affords a reliable barometer of the general condition of business. It is evident that this impression must be modified in some measure in times like these, when the consumption for rails has declined enormously. A Chicago publication of mileage of all roads projected fails to stimulate iron manufacturers, who are well aware how many concerns are in the market to purchase rails with bonds not otherwise marketable. But when the quantity of iron made into rails is deducted, the remaining consumption for all purposes, this year, exceeds that of last year by not far from 400,000 tons per quarter, which is surely not a discouraging symptom. Prices are low, however, and the tone of the market weaker, and it seems inevitable that the production must speedily be much reduced unless the demand increases materially.

The overproduction of leather does not appear to be caused by any sudden shrinkage in the demand for finished products, since the shipments of boots and shoes are larger than in any previous year; but the depression in price, which has now continued since 1880, and reached 33 per cent, is unprecedented as to duration, and the excess of production undoubtedly begins to embarrass many makers. The cotton manufacture is progressing fairly, with a consumption a little larger than in any previous year, and the demand for goods this week seems better, with print cloths strong at 3.75 cents for 64s. The unusually open winter accounts for the difficulty in the lumber business, which in some quarters is much embarrassed by lack of supplies and in part for the weakness of the coal market. Copper has fallen three and one-half cents per pound at London during the past week, and the prospects for future control of the markets do not yet materialize. Tin has also declined to 20.37 cents, but lead is strong at 3.67 cents.

When it is but a shade lower, and corn a little higher than a week ago. The rapid approach of a another harvest, with an unsold surplus in excess of all probable demands, which seems likely to be not far from 40,000,000 bushels July 1, is a sufficient cause for depression in wheat and the failure and suicide of an operator at the west, tell of the losses sustained. The general average of prices is a shade lower than a week ago, although the treasury has been disbursing money largely, holding in cash about $7,000,000 less than at last report. Exports of merchandise improve, and for two weeks of April have been 20 1/4 per cent. larger than last year, while some tendency to decrease appears in imports at New York.

HENRY G. PEARSON DEAD.

The Postmaster of New York City Dies at Highwood, N. J.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Postmaster Henry G. Pearson died at the house of his father-in-law, ex-Postmaster General James, at Highwood, N. J., at 4:25 a. m.

HENRY G. PEARSON.

When a boy he became a messenger in the postoffice. From messenger he was promoted to a clerkship, then to registry clerk, then head clerk in the registry department, then chief clerk of the railway department, superintendent of mails and assistant postmaster. He was appointed postmaster in 1881 by Garfield. He was reappointed by Cleveland in 1885.

Mr. Pearson married a daughter of Gen. James. He has lived for years in the Gerlach flats on West Twenty-seventh street. Mr. Pearson was about 43 years of age.

Mr. Pearson's trouble had been of six months' standing, and was caused, it is believed, by overwork and mental anxiety. His troubles during the last year in the postoffice, especially the constant worries he had with the letter carriers, weighed heavily upon his mind. During an official service in the postoffice department of sixteen years he had only been absent from his post three months altogether, six weeks of which he spent in a trip to Europe in 1877. Mr. Pearson had become changed in appearance since his sickness assumed a serious form. The persistent hemorrhages have emaciated him, yet until a few days ago his family had hopes that the trouble would pass over.

MORMON MISSIONARIES.

Five of Them Roughly Handled in Dale County, Alabama.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—Information comes from Dale County, Ala., that five Mormon missionaries were severely whipped and driven from the county last Monday night. These men have been holding meetings among the ignorant classes of the country and had formed a colony to go to Utah. This had been carried on against the judgment of the better class of citizens, but no action to stop it was taken until the last issue of The Ozark Star, which advised the people to tar and feather the Mormons and drive them away.

This was enough. Monday night some forty of the so-called best citizens of the northern part of the county, without the slightest attempt at disguise, surrounded the house of Gid Irons, a recent convert, who was entertaining the five missionaries. Without delay they were brought out, stripped to the waist and tied in a row. Then each of the regulators, with a long switch, struck each prisoner a sounding blow.

By the time the last blow was given two of the men had fainted and the others were wet with blood. After the whipping the men's legs were given a thick coating of tar and feathers, and they were warned to leave instantly or suffer death. Irons was told that if the Mormons were found in his house again he, too, would be whipped.

The names of the Mormons are Asa F. Hixson, J. H. Hagadorn, M. F. Miller, John Pearce and Ansel Morrison. They have gone to Henry county, but it is certain if they attempt to hold meetings there they will again be whipped. Their followers in Dale county talk of avenging the whipping, but if anything of that kind is attempted bloodshed will follow.

BRITISH SEALERS

In Behring Sea Will Go Armed and Prepared to Resist Seizure.

TORONTO, Ont., April 22.—A special dispatch from Victoria, B. C., says that sealers there are much concerned about the announcement from Washington of the intention to seize all vessels sealing in Behring sea; that hunters and sailors are reluctant to go on these cruises, and that those sealers which do go will be armed and will not tamely submit, as before, to seizure by American cutters.

The Globe, commenting on the possibility of a conflict, says: "In order to obviate this danger the British government should order a man-of-war to protect Canadians in Behring sea, or should plainly abandon the apparently shallow pretense that Great Britain will stand by Canada's rights against any American aggression whatever."

The Great Sugar King.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Claus Spreckels has left for Philadelphia, where he will direct the fitting up of his new refinery, which he expects to have in running order by June. He says he will use his California refinery to fight the sugar trust west of the Missouri river, and when questioned closely positively asserted that he would never join the trust.

A $3,355,000 FIRE.

New York Suffers the Heaviest Loss in Many Years.

SIX SQUARES OF PROPERTY ON THE NORTH RIVER DESTROYED.

Among the Burned Buildings Are the Docks and Store Rooms of the New York Central, Fairbanks Lard Refinery and Two Huge Grain Elevators—Several Lives Reported Lost.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Fearful destruction of property and loss of life from fire took place here Friday evening. Flames first appeared in a corner of Fairbanks' lard refinery, and, greasy as the old building was, it was soon a vast sheet of fire. Men rushed to the windows and flung themselves headlong into the street. The establishment of the Wilcox company soon caught fire.

A large brick wall between this and the Vanderbilt grain elevators "A" and "B" for a long time withstood the heat, but it finally succumbed, and efforts to save the elevators were in vain. The water supply was poor and the fire boats had to be called. The wall of Rossiter stores, across the street from Fairbanks', then fell. The stock yards had been cleared, but the fire did not approach them as the wind blew in another direction.

A great deal of dock property and several storehouses were also entirely consumed, besides a lot of valuable railroad property. The loss is placed at $3,355,000, only partly insured. The locality swept by the flames extends along North river, from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-fourth street.

The police report the following casualties: Henry Bending, single, No. 694 Tenth avenue, a workman in Fairbanks' refinery, killed by jumping from a third-story window.

John Johnson, No. 517 West Forty-second street, likewise a workman in Fairbanks' refinery, severely injured on the back by jumping from a window.

Charles Brown, No. 603 West Forty-third street, severe injuries about the head from the same cause.

William J. Noble, fireman of engine No. 2, prostrated by the heat while at work at the foot of Fifty-ninth street.

Edward H. Tobias, fireman, likewise prostrated by the heat.

Rumors were rife all the evening that a number of workmen had been caught and burned in the Fairbanks refinery.

The loss to the property of the New York Central Railroad company is estimated at $1,040,000, which is covered by insurance in the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance company. Mr. Hoyt, of the above insurance company, stated to a United Press reporter that he did not think the company's net loss would exceed the above sum, provided there was no salvage. The company, he said, had only risks on the New York Central property.

Mr. Randall, secretary of the Fire Patrol and Fire underwriters, stated later that it would be impossible to say what the loss would be to the different companies until all had made their returns.

THE DANMARK'S PASSENGERS.

It Is Believed They Were Picked Up By the Steamer Missouri.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—The Atlantic Transportation line steamer Missouri, Capt. Merrill, from London to this city, is more than a week overdue. She is a new vessel, and has never been in this port. Her non-arrival is now attributed in shipping circles to the belief that she has picked up the 700 passengers and crew of the abandoned steamer Danmark, and was taken them to the nearest port, the Azores islands.

She does not carry passengers, and if she picked up the Danmark's passengers, would make for the nearest port. Her stock of provisions and water would soon become exhausted, and it would be a most hazardous attempt to endeavor to reach this country with 700 of the Danmark's crew and passengers, and fifty of her own, provisioned for only fifty people.

Her Lifeboat Found.

LONDON, April 22.—The steamship Minnesota, which has arrived at the mouth of the Thames, from Baltimore, reports that she saw on the 4th inst. a lifeboat belonging to the Danmark in latitude 45:15 north, longitude 37:50 west. The boat had the name "Danmark, Copenhagen" on her stern. The boat was half full of water, and it looked as though her occupants had been rescued. One or two cars, some rope and a tarpaulin laid in the bottom of the boat. Three rowlocks were in position, and the painter was coiled up in the head sheets. Pieces of cigar boxes were seen in the boat.

No News in London.

RUENSTOWN, April 22.—Every ship arriving at this port is eagerly questioned regarding the abandoned steamer Danmark, but as yet no vessel has seen or heard anything of the lost steamer or her passengers.

May and December United.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 22.—At 7:30 o'clock Thursday night Jesse Crocinius, of Eckerly, Ind., aged 70 years, and Miss Ellen Cunningham, who is not yet out of her teens, were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's father, J. A. Cunningham, near Jasper, Ind., Rev. J. H. Hobson officiating. They departed for Eckerly, where they will make their future home.

A Legal Holiday.

COLUMBUS, O., April 22.—The governor has issued a proclamation setting aside April 30 as a legal holiday, and calls upon all classes of people to rest from business and observe the day in a proper, patriotic and devotional manner, to the honor of our forefathers and the glory of God.

New Danish Minister Dangerously Ill.

CHICAGO, April 22.—John A. Elander, of Lake View, recently appointed United States minister to Denmark by President Harrison, last Saturday had an attack of hemorrhage of the lungs, and since then has been very low.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
 Proprietors.

MONDAY, APRIL 22, 1889.

COLONEL WILLIAM CASSIUS GOODLOE has arrived at Washington, but says he isn't after any office. It looks like the Colonel is trying to play the Bradley racket on the new administration.

What's the matter with Auditor Fayette Hewitt? He doesn't seem to be in such a hurry to sue the Covington Commonwealth and Owensboro Inquirer for libel as he was a few weeks ago.

CANNIBALS are as numerous down in Warren County as here in Mason. The Bowling Green Times says there were eleven of them at a meeting recently to speak to an audience of nine persons.

The announcement of Coroner Magnus T. Cockrell as a candidate for re-election appears elsewhere. This venerable citizen of Maysville has held the office for years and is not apt to have any opposition now.

Mr. THOMAS, of course, bobs up among the office-seekers, and wants Harrison to appoint him as Indian agent. Thobe was a Democratic ward-worker at Covington not a great many years ago, but he no doubt thinks his race against Carlisle entitles him to a seat at the Republican table and a nice slice of "pie." And he may get there.

The Democratic party and its delegates to the Louisville Convention must be prepared for the introduction of resolutions expressing confidence by the Democracy in and endorsement of the official acts and conduct of the Auditor of Public Accounts.

The plan of operation has been determined upon; the resolution will be pressed, and if adopted, the candidate of the convention will have to carry the load, although "it is none of his nor the party's making."—Covington Commonwealth.

And he will find it a heavy load to carry. No such resolution should be thought of.

In that staunch old Republican State of Pennsylvania the Legislature refused to consider the subject of ballot reform. The New York World says: "In two other typical Republican States, Maine and Ohio, both in the complete control of that party, reform bills have been killed. This ought to offset any Democratic shortcomings in this State and in New Jersey, but the Republican organs are very careful to confine their attention wholly to the derelictions on the other side. They are blind in one eye."

The information comes from Washington that the Government is to take an active interest in the mineral development of this State. Engineers, under G. B. Barnard, of the Geological Bureau, will start for Eastern Kentucky within the next two weeks. Major Powell, at the head of the bureau, thinks the resources of that section are marvelous. A map will be made in accordance with the new survey and a full report rendered of its mineral resources. This will be gratifying news to all who have the future of the State at heart. The mineral wealth of that section, however, has been made known to some extent to the country already.

The coming Democratic State convention will be a mere matter of form as to the nomination of Captain Sharp for Treasurer, but the plain Democrats of Kentucky, so unmistakably represented in the large number of newspapers which have convictions and dare express them, should see to it that no white-washing resolution of Auditor Hewitt is slipped through the convention by the wily politicians who are so industriously trying to bolster up that unfortunate official.—Owensboro Messenger.

The Democrats of Kentucky can't afford to "white-wash" Auditor Hewitt, in face of his admission under oath that he was "inexcusably" negligent in discharging his official duties. Such an act on the part of the coming convention would be a long step towards turning the State government over to the Republicans.

In the Right Direction.

"The Democratic party in Mason has placed itself squarely on a true Democratic platform," says the Covington Commonwealth. "The evils attendant on primary elections and conventions, in these days of bossism, have found their way from the cities to the country districts, and the floating or purchasable voter has been making himself and his value felt."

"Mason County has not escaped. But her Democracy proposes to stamp out the evil before it has taken root too deep. It is proposed to nominate as early as next June, the candidates to be voted for in August, 1890—making the campaign long enough to make life a burden—and, in calling the convention for that purpose, the County Committee resolved "That, if any candidate for county office in 1890 be found guilty of using money, whisky or bribe in any way to procure his nomination on June 15, 1889, or if his friends use any bribe, it shall be the duty of the committee appointed to count the vote to declare his nomination null and void."

"Now, for the enforcement of the resolution."

Barren County no Longer Barren.

Glasgow, the county-seat of Barren County, struck it rich in the February Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery. One ticket-holder drew a fraction of the $100,000 prize; another drew a fraction of the $50,000 prize, and several other ticket-holders drew smaller prizes, all in same month's drawing. It is frequently said that sudden windfalls of money drawn in lotteries never benefit the recipients. We know not how this old adage operates elsewhere; but we do know for a certainty that it doesn't hold good in Robertson County. Her ticket-holders have drawn, all told, in the neighborhood of $35,000. One of the fortunate winners is now a prosperous farmer, owns in his own right two valuable tracts of land which have upon them first-class improvements, both free of incumbrances, and he is also one of the principal local stockholders of the Mt. Olivet Deposit Bank. Previous to his investment of one dollar in a fractional ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery, he was a tenant and a poor man. Another is the owner of a stately and popular hotel building that ranks among the best hotels to be found in any city of the second class; he also owns an excellent farm, and richly enjoys the good things of this life. He likewise was a poor man previous to holding a lucky fractional ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery. Another beneficiary has speculated on the fruits of his good fortune in the same Lottery and has added $5,000 or $10,000 to his worldly possession in consequence. Another holder of a fractional ticket was enabled to purchase a small farm that supplies him abundantly with the staff of life in his declining years, while still another on two fractional tickets drew a sufficient amount to place him above want for quite a while. This item may seem highly colored, but every word of it is the truth, as hundreds of people in Robertson will freely attest.—Mt. Olivet, Ky., Tribune-Democrat, March 7th.

Big Fees.

[Interior Journal.]

A few years ago Judge Hargis was given $25,000 as attorney in the Bull estate, and now we read that Judge Beckner, of Winchester, has been awarded $10,000 as attorney in the celebrated Abe Kenick case. In the one Hargis could have been easily retained for $5,000 and Beckner perhaps for $1,000 in the other.

Mr. Thompson Withdraws.

To the Democratic voters of Mason County: After a careful survey of the situation, I have concluded to withdraw as a candidate for County Jailor. I desire to express my thanks to those who have taken so great interest in my behalf. Very respectfully,
 T. H. THOMPSON.

THE NEW SCHEDULE.

It Will Take Effect on the C. and O.
May 12—Other Items of the Rail.

The new time-table on the C. and O. will go into effect May 12. After that date there will be some fast running on the new road. The new schedule will require all passenger trains to make from forty to forty-five or fifty miles an hour. The "Fast Flying Virginian" is expected to make the run from Cincinnati to New York—932 miles—in twenty-three hours. This "F. V. V." will be a "hustler from way back." The road is in splendid condition now, but a large force of hands are at work completing the ballasting.

Under the new schedule there will be four passenger trains daily, except Sunday. The Maysville accommodation will be extended to Portsmouth, and will leave that point early each morning and return late in the evening. The eastbound trains will leave Cincinnati about 7:10 a. m., 4:30 p. m., 6:45 p. m. and 11 p. m. The 7:10 a. m. train will be the regular mail and express, and will make all stops. The westbound trains will pass Maysville about 6:10 a. m., 9:30 a. m., 3:45 p. m. and midnight. The 6:10 a. m. train will make but few stops between this city and Cincinnati.

The annual report of the Chesapeake and Ohio road, shows the gross earnings of last year to have been $1,415,236, and net earnings $387,608. An exchange says: "The statement has little value as indicating the future capacity of the property, as part of the year it was operated under a receiver and all betterments were charged to operating expenses. Besides, the new bridge letting it into Cincinnati was not completed."

A New Pike.

The Maysville and Blue Run Turnpike Company let the contract Saturday for building about one mile of road a short distance below this city. The eaving of the river bank and the construction of the new railroad rendered the old pike almost impassable in many places for vehicles, necessitating a change. The new road will be constructed along the bench of the hill, coming out on Germantown pike at a point near Mr. A. J. McDougale's residence.

The contractor is Mr. J. B. Simons, of Chester. He commenced work to-day, and is to have the grading and bridging completed by the 1st of August, and the pike finished by the 1st of September. The contract price is $2,000.

A CAT in Lee County, Ga, committed suicide in a rather remarkable manner. Her kittens were drowned and she went about for hours in grief, then climbing up on the corn crib, she stuck her head through a crack, and moving along until she came to a narrow place in the crack, let go with her claws, and hanging, slowly choked to death without a struggle or any effort to save herself.—Exchange.

A NIHILIST PLOT

To Assassinate the Czar Discovered by the Russian Police.

HRIS WARNED AND SEVERAL PERSONS ARE ARRESTED.

An Interesting Question Just Now Is Where Will Boulanger Obtain a Further Supply Funds?—He is Warned by the Belgian Government Not to Conspire Against France.—Notes.

St. PETERSBURG, April 22.—The prefect of police has discovered the existence of a nihilist plot to assassinate the czar while he was attending the funeral of Gen. Paucker, minister of roads. The czar was immediately warned not to attend the funeral. A number of persons charged with being implicated in the plot have been arrested. The nihilists intended to use dynamite in their attack on the czar.

Boulanger's Funds.

PARIS, April 22.—It is whispered that the question as to where Boulanger's money comes from has already been succeeded by the inquiry as to where he will obtain a further supply. Setting aside all the scandals as to the Duchess D'Uzes and the Baronne de Bonnevalles, those who know, or ought to know, say that money is short at Brussels. The financial situation of the former "man on horseback" appears to be no better at Paris.

Boulanger Again Warned.

BRUSSELS, April 22.—The Belgian government has decided to send a second notice to Gen. Boulanger to the effect that he will not be allowed to conspire against France, a nation friendly to Belgium.

Will Go to England.

Gen. Boulanger will leave this city and go to London about the middle of the week. The second warning given the general by the Belgian government is the cause of his leaving the country.

Some Consolation.

PARIS, April 22.—Le Temps draws some consolation from the announcement that the second son of the czar will visit the Paris exposition. Probably Prince George has no other idea than to indulge in an agreeable distraction, but it suits the Parisian press to draw political consolation from the forthcoming stay of the scion of Russian royalty, and it is gravely stated, the incident shows, that the Atchinskoff affair has not given any lasting offense. A matter of greater importance has been treated with more caution.

The Duke of Nassau.

Those who know the Duke of Nassau assert that he will be anything but a puppet in the hands of Germany. A private letter states that his bearing on assuming the duties and responsibilities as ruler of the duchy of Luxembourg was mainly and dignified, but that beneath it could be detected an anxiety for the future. On the occasion he, of course, received the congratulations of all the continental powers and marked his sense of their value by observing at the end of the formalities that the potentates who so feelingly greeted his accession to power would be as heartily delighted at the partition of his principality.

Well, Isn't America a Nation?

LONDON, April 22.—The Vienna Free Press prints a long leader on the Samoa question, in which the paper expresses its belief that President Harrison and Mr. Blaine desire the voice of America to be heard in a council of nations, and think the Samoa matter is a suitable pretext for bringing their country to the front.

Still, the Free Press thinks, the Samoa difficulty is seized upon in a haughty and high-handed way, in the full knowledge that Prince Bismarck will not declare war for the sake of possessing the small and comparatively useless territory involved. "Our opinion is," says the Free Press, "that the conference will separate without reaching any definite result."

The Shah's Visit.

St. PETERSBURG, April 22.—The Shah of Persia will arrive here on a visit to the czar May 23. He will leave for Berlin on the 27th.

King of Holland.

LONDON, April 22.—The king of Holland, though very ill, is reported to be in a same condition of mind.

Foreign Notes.

Greater Hungary has again been visited by snow storms.

The Duke of Edinburgh continues to suffer from severe fever.

Crown Princesses Victoria of Sweden has given birth to a son.

Several Russian artillery officials have been arrested for plotting against the czar. The Seville cathedral is again in a tottering condition. Extensive repairs are required.

It is stated that Russia demands 45,000 roubles of France on account of the bombardment of Sagallo.

It is stated that the Serbian government has decided to fortify the town of Serajevo, at a cost of $2,000,000.

The people of Donegal are rejoicing over the release of Father McFadden. Bonfires blaze all over the country.

The rush of emigrants from the southwest of Ireland is causing alarm. The country is being rapidly depopulated.
